

Our members are the heart and soul of Glastonbury Arts. No matter where you live, we invite you to join this vital organization.

"I'm a member of Glastonbury Arts." These words open doors and act as the introduction to years of pleasure. Why join? To show your support of the visual arts in your community, and to meet like-minded men and women who value their connection through the arts. Members have a voice and a vote at the Annual Membership meeting, members are eligible to serve on our Board of Directors, and members have lots of opportunities for volunteerism in our community.

Founded in 1962 as the Glastonbury Art Guild, we are a non-profit art organization that: seeks to educate, enrich, and engage individuals in the creation and appreciation of art; stimulate interest in the arts and make art accessible to the community; and provide opportunities for its members, students, emerging and established artists, art lovers, and the community to engage in the understanding and creation of art through programs, instruction, demonstrations, mentoring, scholarships, networking, and exhibitions.

Our plans include a full agenda of art-related activities to better serve our membership and the community. Whether you are young or old, an artist or an art appreciator, we have something to offer you: art classes for adults, teens, and children; a diverse Got Art series of art demonstrations and discussions; art exhibitions; the Holiday Art Show & Sale; and, of course, the nationally respected "On the Green" Fine Art & Craft show in September which draws thousands of individuals to our community. Check it all out on our website - www.GlastonburyArts.org.

Our current facility at 1396 Hebron Avenue has served us well for nearly 30 years but like any building it requires maintenance to provide a base for committee meetings, small art exhibitions, and a broad array of art classes. Looking further into the future, our goal is to find a new more easily accessible location that will allow more art programming and exhibitions. We know that a new location will not happen overnight, but we need to be positioned for that next step that allows us to better serve our membership and the community.

Glastonbury Arts is moving forward and has great plans for the future. We are doing our best to stretch limited resources and increase the services we offer, but we need your continued support in the following ways:

- Take a moment to make sure your dues are up-to-date using the attached form. Not a member? We invite you to join.
- Make a donation. If you are an employee or retiree of a company with a matching gifts program, increase the impact of your donation.
- Volunteer your time in support of exhibitions, publicity, special events, and the "On the Green" Show.

Every committee has a variety of plans and all of them can accommodate the time you have available. There are activities that can be done independently from home or with a group to share the fun. Contact us (info@glastonburyarts.org) if you want to discuss where you want to participate.

Our future includes you and you really can make a difference.
